December Meeting was a competition. Person of Interest: A single person as the subject. Mysterious or sinister, intriguing: interesting shadows, unusual cropping or composition, a memorable look into someone's soul. Not your conventional portrait. Colby McLemore was our judge. Shelly King took 1st & 2nd Place, Bob Slaughter 3rd, and Kendra Ellis and Yvonne Dalshen took Honorable Mentions.

January Meeting: What's Hot and What's Not. The presenter will discuss emerging gear technologies such as Nikon's and Canon's leap into the mirrorless market, carbon fiber tripods, and such (pointing out those that are worthy and others that may be questionable); post-processing software programs; etc

Membership Dues: $20 for the year for an individual. $30 for a family. I will be at the meeting in January to take Cash or Checks. You may also go to the website and pay online.

February Meeting will be a competition: Things with Holes. Holes are everywhere-big ones and little ones: in nature, in architecture, in clothing, in paper. Create an interesting image with holes as the prominent subject. Don't miss this competition with Baldwin Lee as the judge. Even if you don't have an entry it will be a great learning opportunity to just listen to him!!!
